Gustavus Atwood.

Born in Carver, Nov. 18, 1843, and spent his life on the old homestead where he conducted a general business in farming and lumbering. He was the handy man of his village, a Justice of the Peace, member of the School Committee most of the time from 1878 to 1904; member of the Boards of Selectmen and Overseers of Poor in 1879 and 1880; member of the General Court in 1896; and one of the town auditors for the ten years preceding his death. He was generous and public spirited. His name was always subscribed to any good cause, and no one remembers when he missed a town meeting from the time he became a voter. Faithful in the discharge of the various duties entrusted to him, he deserves the grateful remembrance of his townspeople.

School Committee of Carver.

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the School Committee of Carver:

I herewith submit my first annual report for the year ending December 31, 1920. Of necessity the greater part of my work for the past year has been devoted to a study of conditions as they were and did not warrant the introduction of many ideas of my own. Thanks to the successful work of my predecessor, Mr. Humphrey, the schools were in good shape. He left affairs in such a way that it was very easy for me to begin where he left the work.

We have been very fortunate this year in the fact that we have been able to retain nearly all our teachers. In the middle of the year Miss Dunn, the teacher at Pope's Point, died. Her place was taken by Mrs. Blanche Holmes of Carver. Mrs. Harris, our teacher at Bate's Pond, did not wish to return and Miss Susan S. Perkins was secured to take her place. Mr. Hall, who had been the principal of the High School for several years, felt that it would be better for him, in a professional way, to go to another and larger school. Although I should have liked to retain him I felt he was taking the right course. Miss Knowles, who had been assistant to Mr. Hall, was promoted to the position of principal. The teachers at the present time and their schools are as follows:

High School—Miss Marian Knowles, principal, Campello, Mass.; Miss Mildred Platts, assistant, Holbrook, Mass.

Centre Grammar—Mrs. Helen Griffith, Carver, Mass.

North Intermediate—Miss Mary Frawley, Plymouth, Mass.

North Primary—Mrs. Marguerite Shurtleff, Middleboro, Mass.

Popes Point—Mrs. Blanche Holmes, Carver, Mass.

South Intermediate—Mrs. Laura Hudson, Carver, Mass.

South Primary—Miss E. Elizabeth Tillson, South Carver, Mass.

Bates Pond—Miss Susan S. Perkins, South Carver, Mass.

The work of all these teachers has been marked by faithfulness and loyalty. Each teacher has done all in her power to assist me in getting started in my work. I feel that any success that may have been gained during the year should be attributed to these hard working teachers. It has, indeed, been a pleasure for me to work with them.

Throughout the country there is a great shortage of trained teachers. It has become not merely a question of securing trained teachers but in many cases of securing teachers of any kind, trained or untrained. A few years ago when a vacancy occurred in our schools there were dozens of likely candidates for the position. Now it is often a question of being able to find a single candidate for the place. During the past year a commission appointed by Governor Coolidge has been studying the matter of teachers' salaries throughout the state. According to the report of this commission the cost of living increased about 100 per cent. from 1910 to 1920, whereas the average salary of elementary school teachers increased 85.1 per cent. and that of High School teachers 50.7 per cent. It is evident that increases in salary, although very decided have not been equivalent to the increase in cost of living.

"Although the large cities and towns have been able to maintain their standard the small towns have been less successful. One third of the new teachers employed during the past year in 125 small towns without high schools were graduates of secondary schools only, and nearly two-thirds of those in the 50 smallest towns were no better qualified. It is also to be observed that less than 150 out of more than 4,500 students graduated from the Massachusetts Normal Schools during the past five years are teaching in the 785 one-teacher rural schools of Massachusetts. Although town and city life present strong attractions to many teachers the most potent cause of failure of the smaller towns to secure and retain their quota of qualified teachers is to be found in the low salaries there paid. During the last financial year the increases in teachers salaries granted by the cities were about double those granted in the rural towns.

The salaries paid have not afforded adequate recognition of investments in time and money which teachers make to secure the necessary preparation for teaching. After completing the secondary school, the typical elementary school teacher devoted two years to further study and the typical high school teacher four years. The expense incidental to this special preparation, plus the income that might have been derived from employment during this period, constitute a substantial sum. In addition to these initial expenses for preparation the ambitious teacher continues during her teaching career to make substantial outlays for professional reading and professional improvement courses."

From the accompanying table we may see how Carver compares with other towns in regard to salaries. I have taken towns nearby or those well known, for comparison. I have not taken special towns in order to make a strong case for more salary increases but have taken the towns on or near the Cape. From the list we see that we are exceeded by the town of Duxbury only in valuation per pupil, yet we are the lowest of all the group in expenditure for teachers' salaries per thousand dollars. It will also be seen that our school tax per thousand is the lowest of all the group. We further find that although we were among the towns that paid the lowest salaries in 1910-11 our percentage of increase has not been as great as ten of the seventeen towns listed of those that have a smaller percentage of increase all except one paid a larger average salary in 1910-11. These figures show very plainly that Carver has not been doing as well by its teachers as the other towns of the state. If we are to maintain a high standard in our schools it will be necessary for us to make most decided increases in salaries the coming year. The past year we made some increase but not as much as other towns. The special committee which I have quoted has recommended that the minimum salary for the state be made $800 and that teachers of one year and two years experience be paid $900 and $1,000 respectively. This, however, is recognized as a minimum for the whole state. I believe the people of Carver want the best teachers obtainable and should provide enough money for salaries to enable us to offer inducements to the most likely candidates who are graduating from the normal schools. Unless we do so we shall be forced to engage high school graduates who can "keep school" but who cannot "teach school." I would suggest that we adopt the following salary schedule for the elementary schools. This is, of course, for normal graduates or those of equivalent experience.

First year, $900; second year, $1,000; third year, $1,100.

I would suggest that in order to bring this about and to get our salaries on a level with other towns and to enable us to obtain the best teachers as well as to retain those whom we now have that we increase the salaries of all elementary school teachers $100, the increase to date from the first of January, 1921, and that another increase of $100 be made to take effect next fall, applicable to those teachers who remain with us. The new teachers would work on the salary schedule suggested above. This would mean that the town must raise $460 additional to take care of the increase from January to June and $520 for the increase from September, 1921, to January, 1922, or a total of about $1,000 additional for elementary schools. Even with this increase we cannot be assured of getting the best teachers because most teachers prefer to teach in the cities or in the large towns where there are fewer grades for each teacher to handle. Below is given the table of which I have spoken previously:

Neither the teachers or myself have been satisfied with the attendance during the past year. There seems to be a feeling on the part of some parents that it is not necessary for a child to attend school regularly. Of course this is a great mistake on the part of the parents because no child can really make up a day that has been lost at school. An attempt may be made by the pupil and teacher after school but the benefit is not as great as that obtained when the whole class is working together. No temporary financial gain can pay for the loss of education which is to become a part of the child's permanent equipment for his life work. Of course there are times of sickness when the child must remain at home, but it should not be necessary to keep a child out for some of the minor reasons we have had this year. I believe we should make a great effort to improve these conditions. Our state laws require us to see that all children under a certain age are in school. Chapter 44, Revised laws, Section 2, reads as follows: "Every person having under his control a child as described in section 1 (a child under fourteen), shall cause him to attend school as therein required, and, if he fails for seven day sessions or fourteen half sessions within any period of six months while such control obtains, to cause such child so to attend school, he shall, upon complaint of an attendance officer and conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not more than twenty dollars, and no physical or mental condition which is capable of correction, or which renders the child a fit subject for special instruction at public charge in institutions other than public day schools, shall avail as defence under the provisions of this or the preceding section, unless it shall be made to appear that the defendant has employed all reasonable measures for the correction of the condition and the suitable instruction of the child.

Whoever induces or attempts to induce a child to absent himself unlawfully from school, or employs or harbors a child while school is in session shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars." I believe it is our duty to see that this law is strictly enforced. Although we postpone the opening of our schools until the last of September, many pupils stay out until the middle of October. If we open our schools in September we should insist that every one be there at that time. Unless we do so we work a great injustice to those who do enter on time, because their work is retarded by those pupils who enter late. I hope next fall that every pupil will be required to attend school on the opening day and to continue to attend unless prevented by sickness or some other excellent reason.

I have instructed the teachers to be more careful in the matter of promotions to the next grade. It is folly to allow a pupil who has not been faithful in attendance and who has not done the proper amount of work to advance to the next grade. He not only does an injury to himself but helps hold back the others who are trying to do their best. A pupil should be in the grade in which he is able to do his work in a manner satisfactory to himself and his teachers. If he is below grade he has a great amount of spare time on his hands and loses interest in his work. If he is above grade he finds he cannot do the work and soon becomes discouraged. This year we shall try to make sure that the child is prepared for the next higher grade before we promote. If we promote him without proper preparation we are doing him an injustice.

It would be of advantage to the schools if the parents would visit them more often. No great success can be expected in our schools unless we have parents and teachers working together. A great deal of unjust criticism is directed at the schools by people who never bother to enter them and who do not know the teachers. While all public servants expect to receive criticism, both just and unjust, it seems to me that in consideration of the value of education and the importance of our children, we should be more accurate in our criticism and should fully understand both sides of the question before passing judgment. The school committee, teachers and superintendent are very anxious to have the best schools possible. It is therefore plain that they will be only too glad to assist in bettering any condition that is not for the best interest of the schools. I would suggest that parents and friends visit the schools as often as possible and observe the work of pupils and teachers. If there is anything unsatisfactory or anything that a parent would like to have explained, the superintendent or committee will be very glad to give attention to it. We can then work together on the matter and can accomplish a great deal more than we could by working in opposite directions. I wish to say that I shall be only too glad to explain any policy or discuss school matters at any time with any one who is interested. If we could do this I feel sure that we could work together much more effectively.

We should make a sufficient provision for the High School, to maintain a high standard. I am afraid that many of our citizens do not realize the difficulty involved in obtaining good high school teachers. Personally I would prefer to have a man act as principal of our high school, but it is ridiculous to suppose that good men can be secured unless we are willing to pay the price. A man who can fill the place as we would like to have it would demand at least from $1,800 to $2,000. It is possible we might find some one for less, but he would not be what we want. If we cannot afford to pay the salary demanded by a man we must engage women as principals. It is far better to have a capable woman than an incapable man. The town was very fortunate in being able to retain Mr. Hall so long a time. I am sure that we cannot get a man as capable as he was for less than $2,000.

It may seem to some of the citizens that the demands for increase of salaries is very great. It is generally conceded that our safety and well being as a community and as a nation depends on an intelligent and patriotic citizenship. The citizens of the immediate future are in the schools today. The quality of their citizenship will depend very largely on the qualifications of the teachers to whom we entrust them, for to a very large degree "the teacher makes the school."

It cannot be said too often or with too much emphasis that, if we would have good schools we must have the best teachers that can be secured, and that in order to secure and retain them we must not only pay salaries that will afford something more than a bare living, but as individuals and as a community we should make our teachers feel that we appreciate their work and care for their comfort.

I wish to thank the members of the board for their kind treatment, and co-operation during the past year. I sincerely hope and expect that the coming year will find us still working in this harmonious spirit.

Respectfully submitted,

W. J. B. MacDOUGALL, Superintendent.
